The DMP program in Studio Art is a serious undertaking. You will be expected to commit significant time toward this endeavor, including studio practice, reading, and writing. The expected outcome of the DMP is both a written thesis and a thesis exhibition. The program is ideal for students wishing to prepare for graduate school in studio practice.

Working closely with your project advisor, write a careful and thoughtful proposal for the work you imagine making next year. It should be well researched, with a bibliography, and be no more than two pages in length. Submit proposal and application digitally as a single PDF by Monday, April 4th, 2022 at 5:00PM to Akemi Ohira ao9s@virginia.edu. The application form should be printed, signed by hand, and scanned with signatures before it is submitted. The deadline applies to students studying abroad.

Please check with your project advisor or major advisor if you have questions.
